

A

Route overlap creates interference

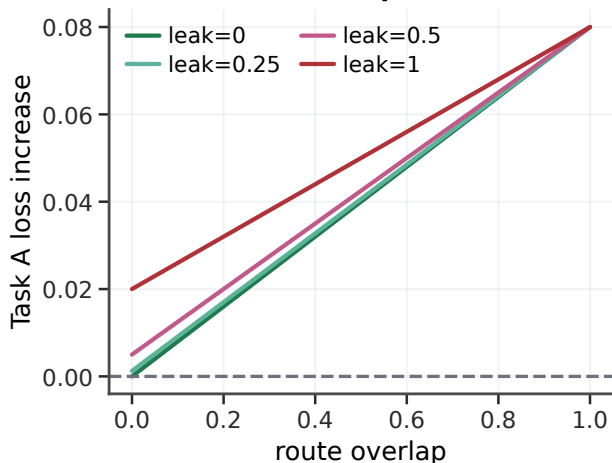

B

Exact one-step forgetting

C

Interference at step size 0.2

D

Link to branch-specific motor learning prediction

loss of branch-selective inhibition increases effective leakage and cross-task interference published observations motivate the test; they do not identify this mechanism uniquely